

YEAR 11 GCSE EXAM SUPPORT PROGRAMME 2017/18 (May 14th – 25th)

The scheduled subjects/times shown below detail intervention/revision priorities across the first two weeks of the GCSE Exam period. The timetable indicates when departments will be running additional sessions during this period (up to half-term). We appreciate that every student is different and emphasise that students should not feel compelled to attend these sessions, if they feel that their time is better spent revising at home. However, we are trying to provide opportunities for students to see their teachers and receive support prior to the exams, for those students who wish to receive it.

If a student does not study a subject that is holding a revision session on a given night, then, in discussion with their class teachers, they can agree to attend a revision/help session that may be being offered in another subject.

Before school and lunchtime sessions are generally designed to be 'booster sessions' – running through key facts/ideas and acting as a warm-up to the exam that is being sat that morning/afternoon. Again, some students really value these sessions, other students prefer to prepare in their own way – we encourage students to make their own decision regarding their attendance at these sessions.

During the exam series, pupils will continue to attend their normal timetabled lessons unless they are actually sitting an exam.

If a pupil has completed the exams in a given subject they should take revision material for another subject to that lesson, so that they can use the time productively.

After half-term, a very small number of extra sessions have been arranged for particular subjects the day before an examination (where they don't have a timetabled lesson). Where extra sessions have been arranged we have focused upon taking time from those subjects whose exams have finished in order to prevent disruption to other subjects. Further details will follow.
